Comment on the following problem:

Elderly people who live alone should be taken care of.

Write 100–120 words.

All people get old. Everyone wants to live and to grow old with dignity. First of all we must to ensure a dignified old age and retirement for our parents when they become pensioners. Most of us will help their parents when they get pensioners. And, of course, I'll do it too.

Some elderly people don't have family or kids. Unfortunately such things happen very often. Sometimes pensioners can't take care of themselves and they have some problems in the home. They need some help in taking care of themselves, their home or garden.

Of course, older people can live in a nursing home. But if he don't want, he can use the invention of Japanese electronics - new sound monitoring system. This invention can make pensioners life more easy and more safety, because if something happens, ^{family} members or security firms will help. I think, it is very useful invention.

So, we should help elderly people. And I really hope, that we will find more different ways to do it, because every man has the right to a beautiful life!
