The problem of lonely elderly people has always aroused heated debates in our society. I'm going to express my point of view on the problem.

Personally, I believe that the elderly must be looked after since at any moment they can feel bad and someone should be around. For instance, if an old lady has heart attack, the carer will call an ambulance. Also people always need a company regardless of age.

The new sound monitoring system is an original invention that can help looking after the aged people twenty four hours a day.

Taking everything into account, I'm firmly convinced that the elderly mustn't live on their own for many above-mentioned reasons.
